

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention relates to a method and corresponding device for constructing at least one digital input signal and providing analog representation thereof, featuring a DSP, discrete output devices, and Multi Input Multi Output 5 (MIMO) system, wherein the MIMO system, constructed from low accuracy components featuring high speed and low power, outputs the constructed analog signal equivalent to the digital input signal representation.